DR MARK SCANLAN

(St Mellitus)

Since the late 1990s, we've been living through a period of profound cultural revolution. We have to ask God again - how do we bring the gospel to bear in this new unprecedented era? What lessons can we learn from past revolutions and revivals to help us navigate the present? How can we nourish our missional imaginations with stories of courage and faith, gaining fresh insight for the future through dialogue with the past? Equipped to lead through prayer with confidence, wisdom and the Holy Spirit's power how do we shape an emerging generation seeking to change the world around them?

This lecture and associated conversation will explore all of these questions and aim to equip youth workers, parents, carers, clergy and others working with young people with a vision for what youth work looks like in these changing times.

THE EVENT IS FREE AND INCLUDES A COMPLIMENTARY GLASS OF WINE AS WELL AS ACCESS TO A RELATED EXHIBITION
